

Introductory Remarks

Speakers

JONATHAN JANSEN

Jonathan Jansen is Distinguished Professor of Education at Stellenbosch University and President of the Academy of Science of South Africa. He is a curriculum theorist, and his research is concerned with the politics of knowledge. His 2019/2020 books (co-authored, co-edited) include South African Schooling: The enigma of inequality; Fault lines: a primer on race, science and society; Who gets in and why: the politics of admission in South Africa's elite schools; Learning under lockdown: voices of South Africa's children; and Learning Lessons.

His current research includes a national study on the impact of the pandemic on the academic work of women scholars. He holds a PhD (Stanford) and five honorary degrees in education.

IDA NICOLAISEN

Ida Nicolaisen is Professor Emeritus of Cultural Sociology at Copenhagen University's Nordic Institute of Asian Studies. She is Editor-in-Chief of the Carlsberg Nomad Research Project and former Vice-Chair of the Danish Development Agency. She has previously served as Vice-Chair of the United Nations Permanent Forum on Indigenous Issues and as Chair of the Soeren Kierkegaard Research Center. She has also served on the boards of various organizations, including the International Chittagong Hill Tract Commission, World Wide Fund for Nature—Denmark, the All European Academies' Ethical Commission, the Royal Danish Geographical Society, and the Israeli-Palestinian Science Organization. She is a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the American Philosophical Society, the Royal Danish Academy of Sciences and Letters, and she is a Knight of the Order of Dannebrog.